

Hi John

Your project reminds me of my last article which I wrote about a weight loss diet. And it got thousands of readers. Likewise, I can help to write an outstanding article on muscle building. On the other hand, you don't have to handhold me while writing on your topic. Because I have hands-on experience and sufficient knowledge to complete the topic in a professional manner. To clarify, your readers will love it.

However, to write an outstanding article for you, I still need to ask a few questions which will allow me to gather the necessary information. These are as follows:

1. Which is your primary keyword?
2. Have you written the title or do you need help with it?
3. How many word counts are you expecting?

Meanwhile, if you have time, please go ahead and check some of my past & related articles here: [links of the published articles]

Writing is easy but it becomes crucial when it comes to driving traffic on your website. And this is what I want to ensure in your case.

By the way, you can call me Your_Name and I have been writing on various niches since 2018. And I already have written more than 200 articles and most of them are successful.

I know that clients are busy and I want to make sure that I'm available at the same time when you're. Could you please tell me when it's easier for you to fix a quick discussion on the above questions?

Thank you
